Benefiting Central California Food Bank

We have a critical need in our community today to support and partner with the Central California Food Bank (CCFB), to end hunger in our community. The mission of the CCFB is to fight hunger by gathering and distributing food, engage in partnerships that advance self-sufficiency, and provide community leadership on issues related to hunger.

Each one of us has the ability to serve food to those in need. However, you have the chance to be a part of something bigger. By collaborating with Santé Health Foundation and the CCFB, you are impacting not only the lives of the community being served, but the lives of those that are serving the community.

The Central California Food Bank does a fantastic job in our community helping to feed thousands. However, the CCFB could actually do more with our help. The CCFB offers less volunteer hours than some of the other food banks across the country because it lacks an appropriate volunteer center. We believe that, with your help, we can raise the money necessary to finally have an adequate volunteer center for the CCFB. With your support, funds raised will help open the doors to the all-new Santé Health Foundation Volunteer Center. This center will provide structure and organization for the volunteers who are graciously giving their time to help further the success of the CCFB. We are confident that the Santé Health Foundation Volunteer Center will be able to attract more volunteers for the CCFB and further increase the ability to feed our under-served community members.

The Central California Food Bank operates several food distribution and outreach programs, which combined, provides more than 52 million pounds of food each year and serves more than 350,000 people monthly. With the Santé Health Foundation Volunteer Center, we will be able to help increase those numbers.

We want to make a difference now and invite you to be a part of this incredible opportunity. Thank you in advance for your kindness and support.
